

SEIKUM

リスク開示

RISK DISCLOSURE

This Risk Disclosure is presented by Seikum ("Company"), the provider of Trader's Room service and a trading platform to the Client, to inform the Client about the inherent risks associated with trading on financial markets. It is important to note that this Disclosure does not comprehensively detail or explain all the risks and other significant aspects of trading. Instead, it is intended to provide a general understanding of these risks and assist the Client in making informed investment decisions.

1. TRADING RISKS

1.1. The Company cannot be held responsible for losses incurred by the Client due to the selection of an incorrect trading strategy or the disregard of capital management rules.

1.2. The Client acknowledges that the execution time of their trading requests may be prolonged under abnormal market conditions. Consequently, the execution price of an order may be less favorable than the specified price.

1.3. Trading on all accounts involves the use of leverage. In margin trading scenarios, even minor market movements can have a disproportionately significant impact on the Client's trading account. The Client must recognize that adverse market conditions can expose them to substantial losses, potentially exceeding the invested capital. The Client should be prepared to accept the risk of losing the entire invested amount.

1.4. Some financial instruments may not immediately attain liquidity due to factors such as reduced demand. In such cases, the Client may encounter challenges when attempting to sell these instruments or obtain information about their pricing and associated risks.

1.5. The Client acknowledges that trading in a currency other than their country of residence's currency may subject them to adverse effects resulting from exchange rate fluctuations affecting the value and performance of trading instruments.

1.6. The Client should seek information regarding all applicable charges for which they may be liable.

2. TECHNICAL RISKS

2.1. The Client assumes the risk arising from software or telecommunications failures and other technical issues.

2.2. The Company is not accountable for losses sustained by the Client due to the non-adherence to instructions provided in the client terminal user guide.

2.3. The Client acknowledges the risk of executing unintended trading transactions, especially when repeating an order before receiving the results of the last order processing.

2.4. The Client is responsible for safeguarding their passwords and ensuring that third parties do not gain access to the trading system. The Client remains subject to trading obligations, even if their password has been used by a third party, with such obligations shared by both the Client and the Company.

2.5. The Client understands that information transmitted in plaintext (via email, instant messenger service) is not protected from unauthorized access.

2.7. In cases of poor connection between the client terminal and the server, some quotes may not reach the client terminal. The server for live accounts is the sole reliable source of quotes.

3. FORCE MAJEURE

3.1. The Company shall not be held responsible for losses incurred by the Client due to force majeure events, including but not limited to acts of war, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, trading halts on financial markets, currency interventions, government decisions, financial market instability with rapid liquidity drops, and other substantial changes in the processes of counteragents.

4. INTRODUCING CHANGES TO THE RISK DISCLOSURE

4.1. The Company reserves the right to review and amend the Risk Disclosure at its sole discretion. Therefore, it is advisable to regularly review this Disclosure. By continuing to use the website services or visiting it, the Client automatically agrees to any changes made to the Disclosure.